

Capella Lodge

Luxe Lord Howe

January 2005: On an island celebrated as a World Heritage site, one that limits visitor numbers to 400 and its speed limit to 25km/h, seclusion, relaxation and the boutique resort experience is being redefined with the opening of the Island's first wellness spa.

Fresh from a $2M refurbishment, the celebrated Capella Lodge has brought a touch of luxe to New South Wales' Lord Howe Island.

Capella Lodge is located above picturesque Lovers Bay at the foot of the Island's iconic twin-mountains Gower and Lidgbird. This nine-suite retreat combines personal service and premium facilities to deliver a unique and exclusive Lord Howe Island experience.

The newly opened petite Capella Spa indulges body and soul. A signature menu of rejuvenating and relaxation treatments embraces the Island's endemic kentia palms and marine environment. Guests have a choice of indulging in the quirky designer chic of Mambo artist Bruce Goold's interiors or embracing the outdoors in the Kentia Pavilion.

For tired and weary legs Gower's Foot Therapy' is a brilliant post-climb treat, or try 'Mountain Man,' a back exfoliation, massage and facial designed especially for him. The ultimate indulgence is the three-hour 'Dreaming' that includes everything imaginable to leave you feeling balanced and renewed. For something a little different, 'Sacred Stone Therapy' draws upon the power of heated basalt stones from the Island's windward beaches.

The Capella Spa exclusively chooses Li'Tya spa care products.

Rates at Capella Lodge start from $450 per person twin share and include full breakfast, sunset drinks, canapés, 3 - course dinner with change of menu daily, most non alcoholic beverages and mountain bikes. (Valid until November 30, 2006)
